RE: UNITED STATES v. DAVID C. GLOVER

United States Attorney Terrance P. Flynn announced that David C. Glover, 46, of East Aurora, New York, pled guilty today to two counts of possession of child pornography.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Marie P. Grisanti said Glover faces a maximum penalty of 20 years imprisonment, a fine of $250,000, and the possibility of lifetime supervised release. Ms. Grisanti said the sentencing range prescribed by the Federal Sentencing Guidelines is 14 to 17 and a half years imprisonment.

In his guilty plea today before U.S. District Judge William M. Skretny, Glover admitted to distributing child pornography using the Internet through a "Peer-to-Peer" file sharing program called "Shareaza." Ms. Grisanti said the defendant also admitted that, on several occasions, he had sexually abused a minor. The sexual abuse allegations have been referred to the Erie County District Attorney's Office for further investigation.

Ms. Grisanti said the investigation began when an undercover FBI Agent obtained child pornography from Glover's shared computer files using Shareaza. Two computers seized by the FBI during the execution of a search warrant at Glover's home on October 31, 2005 contained child pornography. Agents found that Glover possessed more than 100 still images and 650 videos of child pornography on those computers. Glover admitted that the child pornography he possessed depicted children engaged in masturbation, oral and anal sex, as well as images depicting prepubescent children.

The plea was the result of an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, under the direction of Special Agent-in-Charge Laurie Bennett, and the East Aurora Police Department under the direction of Chief William Nye. Sentencing is scheduled for October 5, 2006, at 9:00 a.m.
